TO OUR GUESTS

8TH & I WASHINGTON, D.C.

On behalf of Marine Barracks, it is my pleasure to welcome you to the "Oldest Post of the Corps". For almost two centuries, United States Marines have assembled and formed for drill or parade in the Barracks' Yard where you now sit; in some cases it was done to the same bugle calls and commands which you will hear during the ceremony tonight.

The faces and weapons have changed many times over since the first "Pass in Review" was sounded; but the pride, discipline and esprit which have animated our Corps since its founding in 1775 have not. To that tradition and to the Marines who have gone before us, we dedicate this Evening Parade.
